Our Fathers Remember

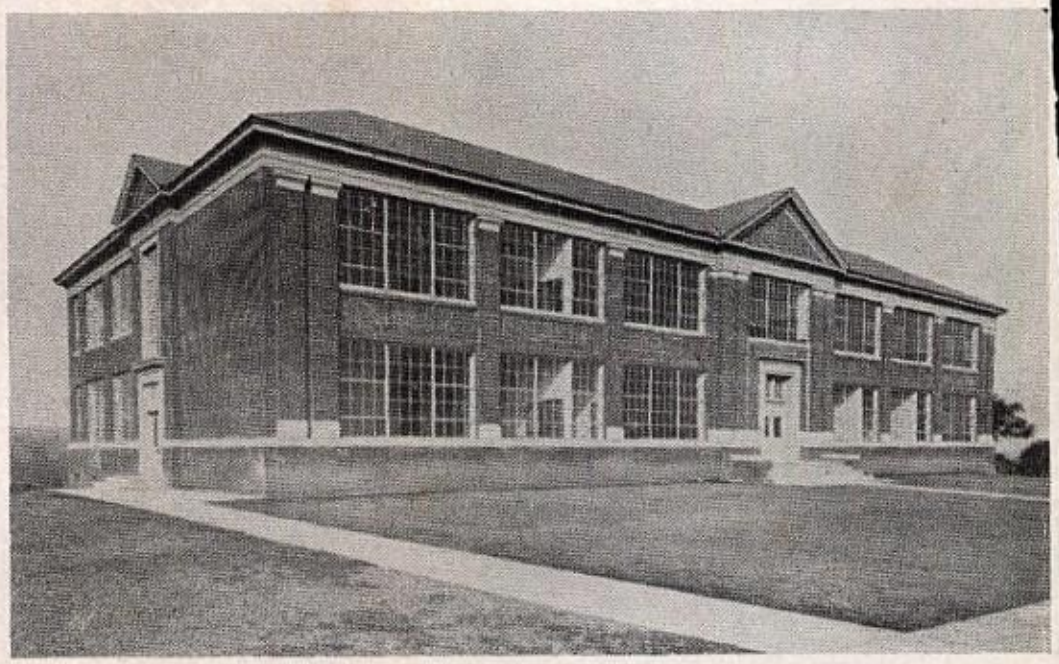
First High School erected in 1884—North Broad Street

Foreword

If in future years today's high school students leaf thru the pages of the Comet and recall with pleasure incidents and events of by-gone days, the staff will feel repaid for their months of labor spent recording the activities of this school year.

We have tried to recall for our parents their high school life and to contrast it with ours as we have experienced it.

We feel that our theme of Then and Now is particularly fitting in this the 200th year of the Bicentennial of Columbia University, since their theme of "Man's right to Knowledge and the free use thereof" also shows our town's struggle and attempt to broaden and enrich our educational offerings and to make them available to a larger area of our population. This struggle for knowledge is evidenced by the progress made in our changed and enlarged educational facilities from our parents' day to our day.



Part of our present High School first occupied in 1923—Belvidere Street

Progress Made through Co-operation

Nazareth Area Joint School Committee

Seated: Paul Burley, Tatamy; F. A. Marcks, Superintendent; C. J. Knauss, Secretary to the Committee; George A. Smith, President; Clinton L. Bunn, Nazareth; Charles P. Schnerr, Treasurer, Nazareth; Vincent Altemose, Bushkill; John Fox, Stockertown

Standing: Stanley W. Clewell, Nazareth; Gustave Fox, Lower Nazareth; Peter F. Yeisley, Nazareth; A. Russell Snyder, Nazareth; Louis C. Hoffmeister, Upper Nazareth; Elwood J. Unangst, Nazareth

Back in the spring of 1950, the Nazareth Area Joint High School Board came into existence after an agreement had been approved and signed between representatives of Nazareth Borough, Bushkill Township, Lower Nazareth Township, Stockertown Borough, Tatamy Borough, and Upper Nazareth Township.

The primary purpose in forming the Joint Board was to provide by co-operative effort more and better secondary school facilities for the students in this area.

Planning for a new high school building was begun almost immediately after the formation of the "jointure" and, thru the splendid co-operative efforts of the various districts of the jointure, the results of that planning are being realized in the building presently being erected.

Professor Marcks and his secretary examine bids for the construction of the new building

Back in 1909 Mr. Frederick A. Marcks, our superintendent, came to Nazareth as a teacher of German, English, and Physics in high school. The following year, 1910, he was elected principal of Nazareth High School and served in that position for five years. In 1915 he was elected to the position of supervising principal.

When Nazareth became a third class independent district in 1937, Mr. Marcks was chosen to be the District Superintendent. Then when the six-district jointure was formed in 1950, Mr. Marcks became the Superintendent of the Nazareth Area Joint High School as well as District Superintendent of the Nazareth Borough Schools.

During the more than forty years that Mr. Marcks has been associated with the Nazareth Public Schools, his liberal and progressive policies have been instrumental in enlarging the educational opportunities thru curriculum enrichment and his foresight has made possible, at the least cost to the district, adequate physical enlargement to meet the ever-increasing enrollment.

The Nazareth Public Schools owe much to his unobtrusive approach, his unselfish devotion, and the diplomacy with which he has co-ordinated the school board and faculty efforts in developing and improving both the Borough Schools and the Joint Area High Schools.

Dr. Graver and his secretary, Mrs. Doyle, discuss a schedule problem

Mr. Graver came to the Nazareth Area Senior High School in January of 1949. In that same year the Senior High School was evaluated by a committee of the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges and was again placed on the list of approved high schools.

Mr. Graver was awarded a doctor's degree in School Administration and History by Rutgers University in October of 1953. He was elected President of the Lehigh Conference of Secondary School Principals in June 1953.

Curriculum

Guidance Program and Library Facilities Aid Students

As early as 1900, Nazareth High School had a collection of books which constituted a library.

When the high school moved into the enlarged building in 1931, the library was put into a suitable room with a trained librarian in charge.

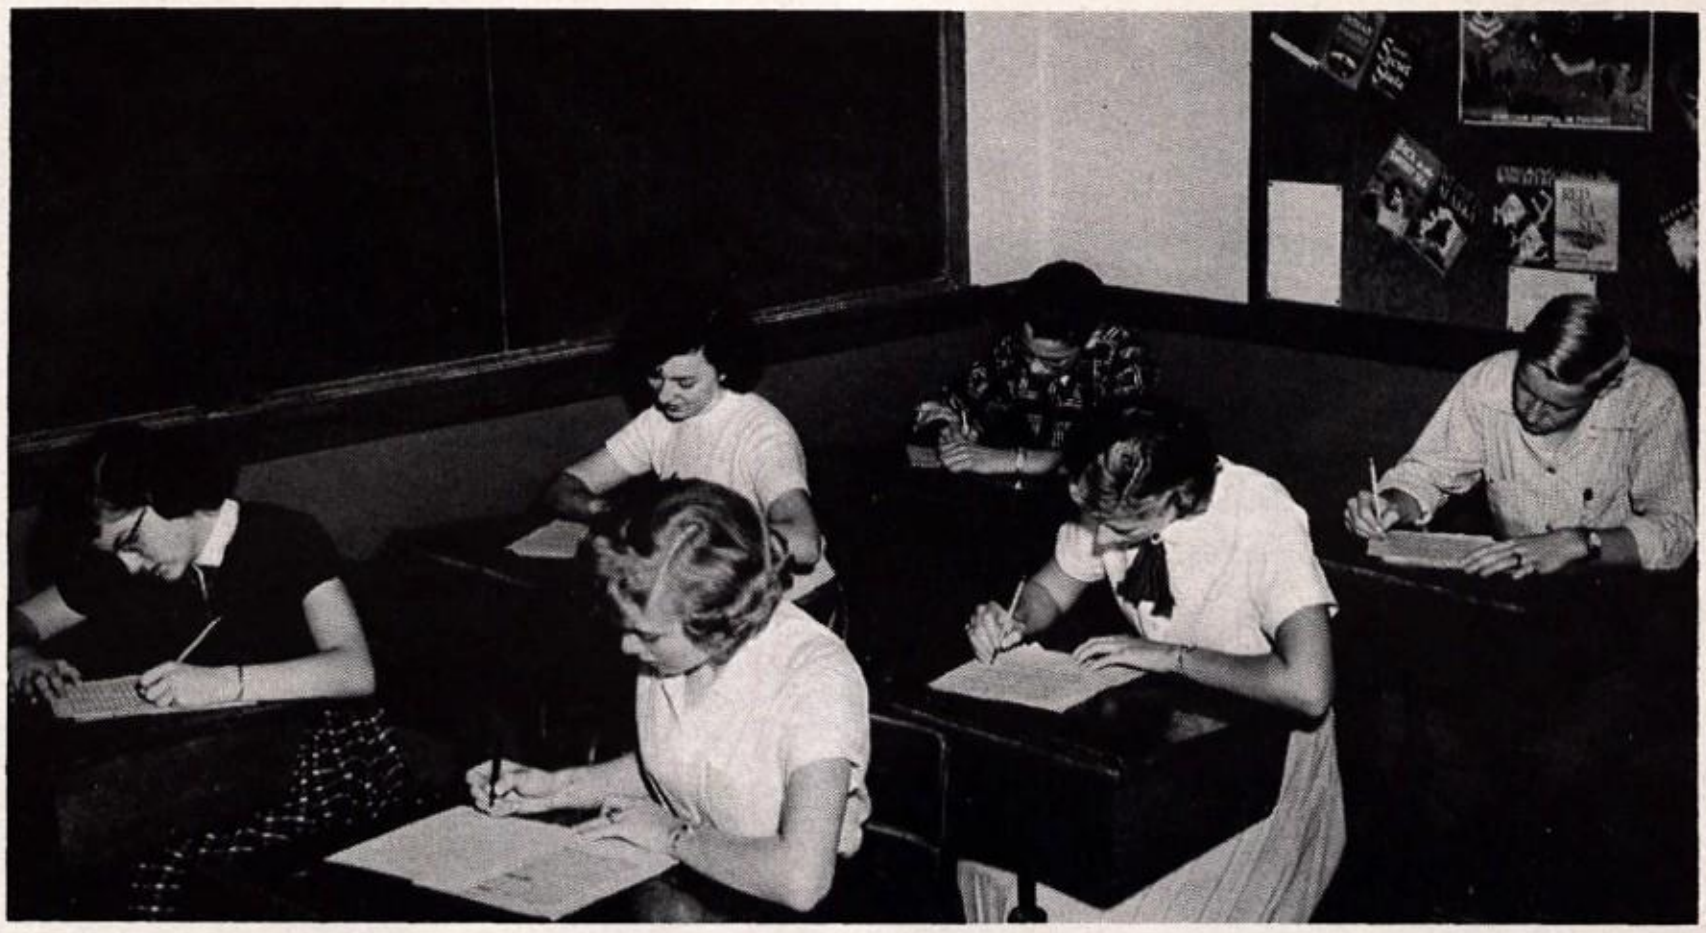
Today the high school library comprises a fully classified and catalogued collection of about 7,000 volumes of serviceable books, together with current bulletins, pamphlets, five newspapers, and over 50 magazines. Approximately 1,000 books are circulated monthly among the students and faculty.

In 1948 Nazareth High School began guidance counselling as service to the students, with one counsellor for the senior high scho Today Mr. Felver is the sophomore counsellor; Mr. Hughes, the juni and Mrs. McGonigle, the senior.

Part of the guidance work is to help students choose their course academic, commercial, or general—and to see that every student h the required subjects and credits needed for the college or sch he wishes to attend after graduation.

During the year Career Conferences, open to all students, a scheduled to explain various vocations.

1. Students use newspapers, magazines, and books during library study periods.
2. Assisted by Mrs. McGonigle, senior guidance counsellor, Shirley Abel, Robert Shekletski, and Theresa Deutsch examine vocational pamphlets.



Senior English students re-work compositions.

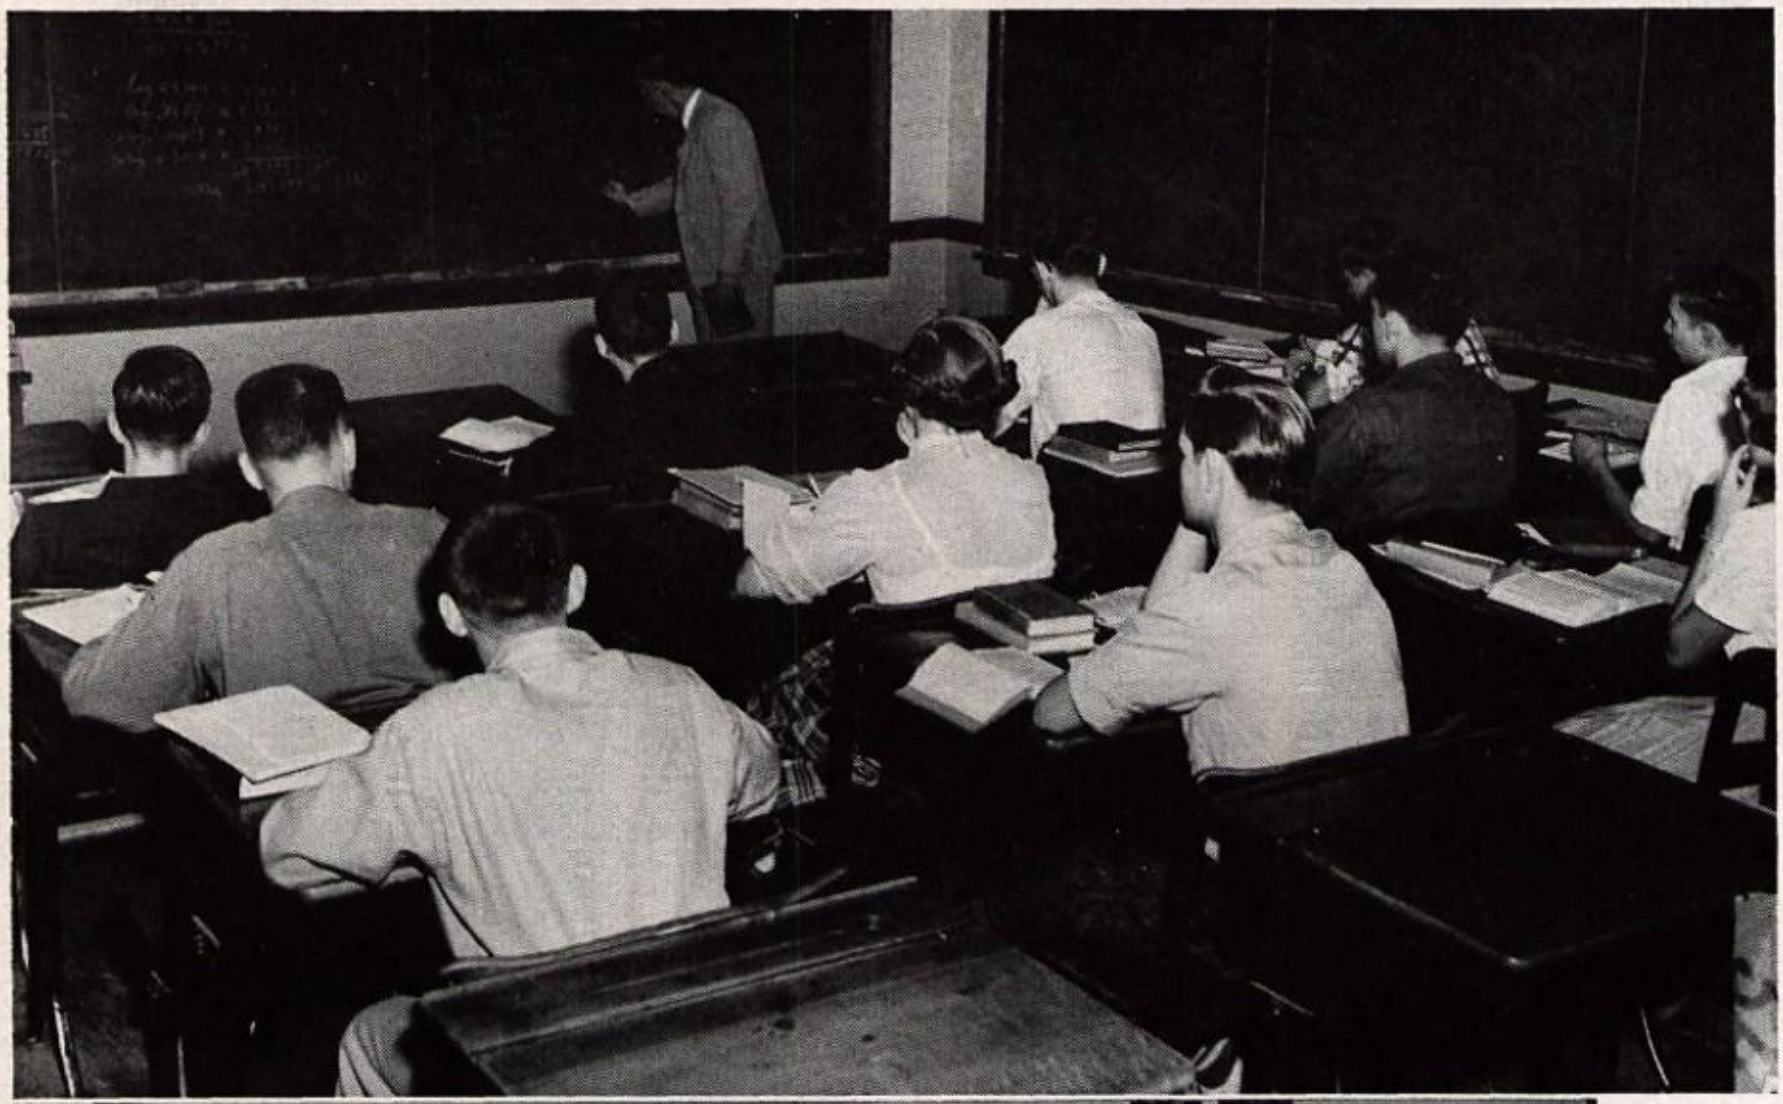
English Classes Work on Compositions

Since English is important in everyday living, the various phases of this subject—literature, grammar, and composition—are included in each year's course.

Beginning three years ago the best creative writing of the English classes was published annually in a literary magazine, The Gleam. Last year students of Nazareth Area Senior High School earned eleven journalistic awards in the annual Pennsylvania School Press Association writing contests.

In junior English Mr. Knecht points out mistakes in paragraph development.

Learning Throug



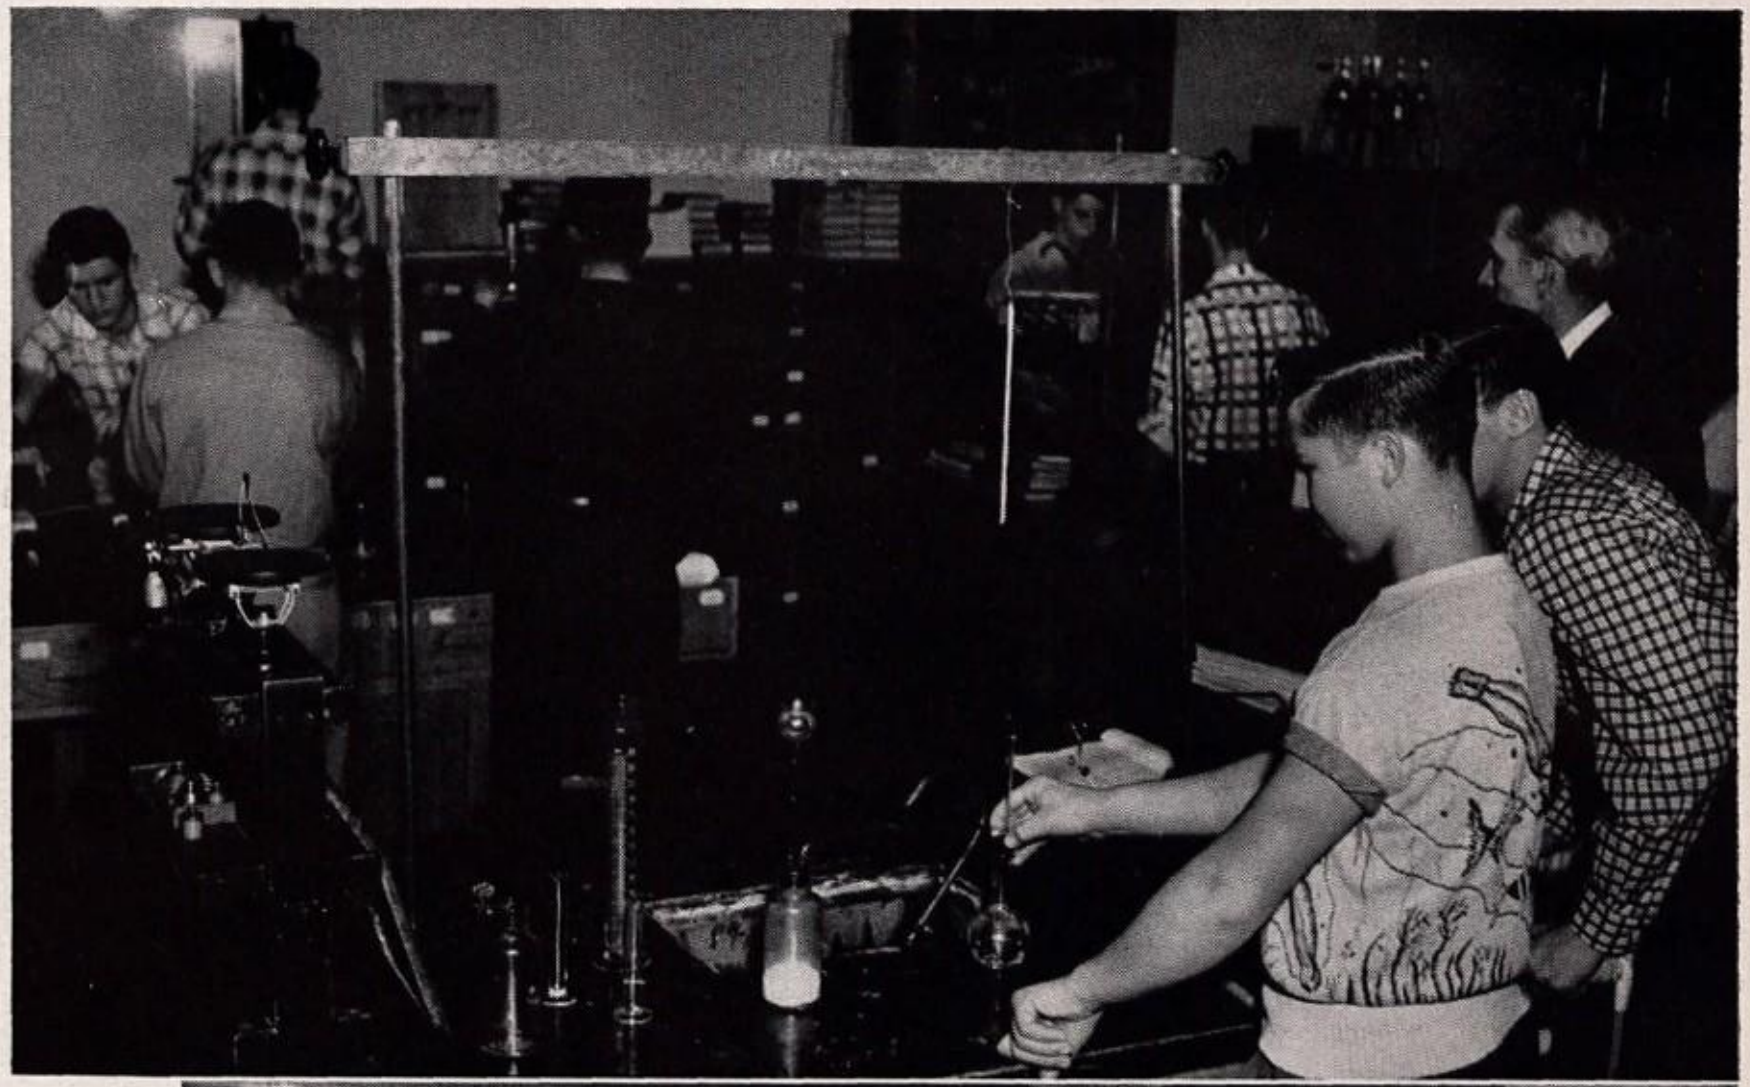
1. Trigonometry students learn the value of logarithms

2. In biology class Charles Erdie points out the mushroom.

3. Chemistry students find the molecular weight of carbon dioxide.

4. Consumer science students learn the fundamentals of vacuum cleaners and their individual qualities.

Demonstration and Experimentation



Chemistry, physics, and biology, as well as math, have always been a part of our curriculum.

To show the steady growth of the science department, today there are three science teachers with greatly increased science equipment. Previously, all experimenting had been done in groups. To make teaching more effective, additional demonstrating apparatus and working aids were installed.

To take care of the non-college students who wish a good science background, in 1938 consumer science was added to the general course.

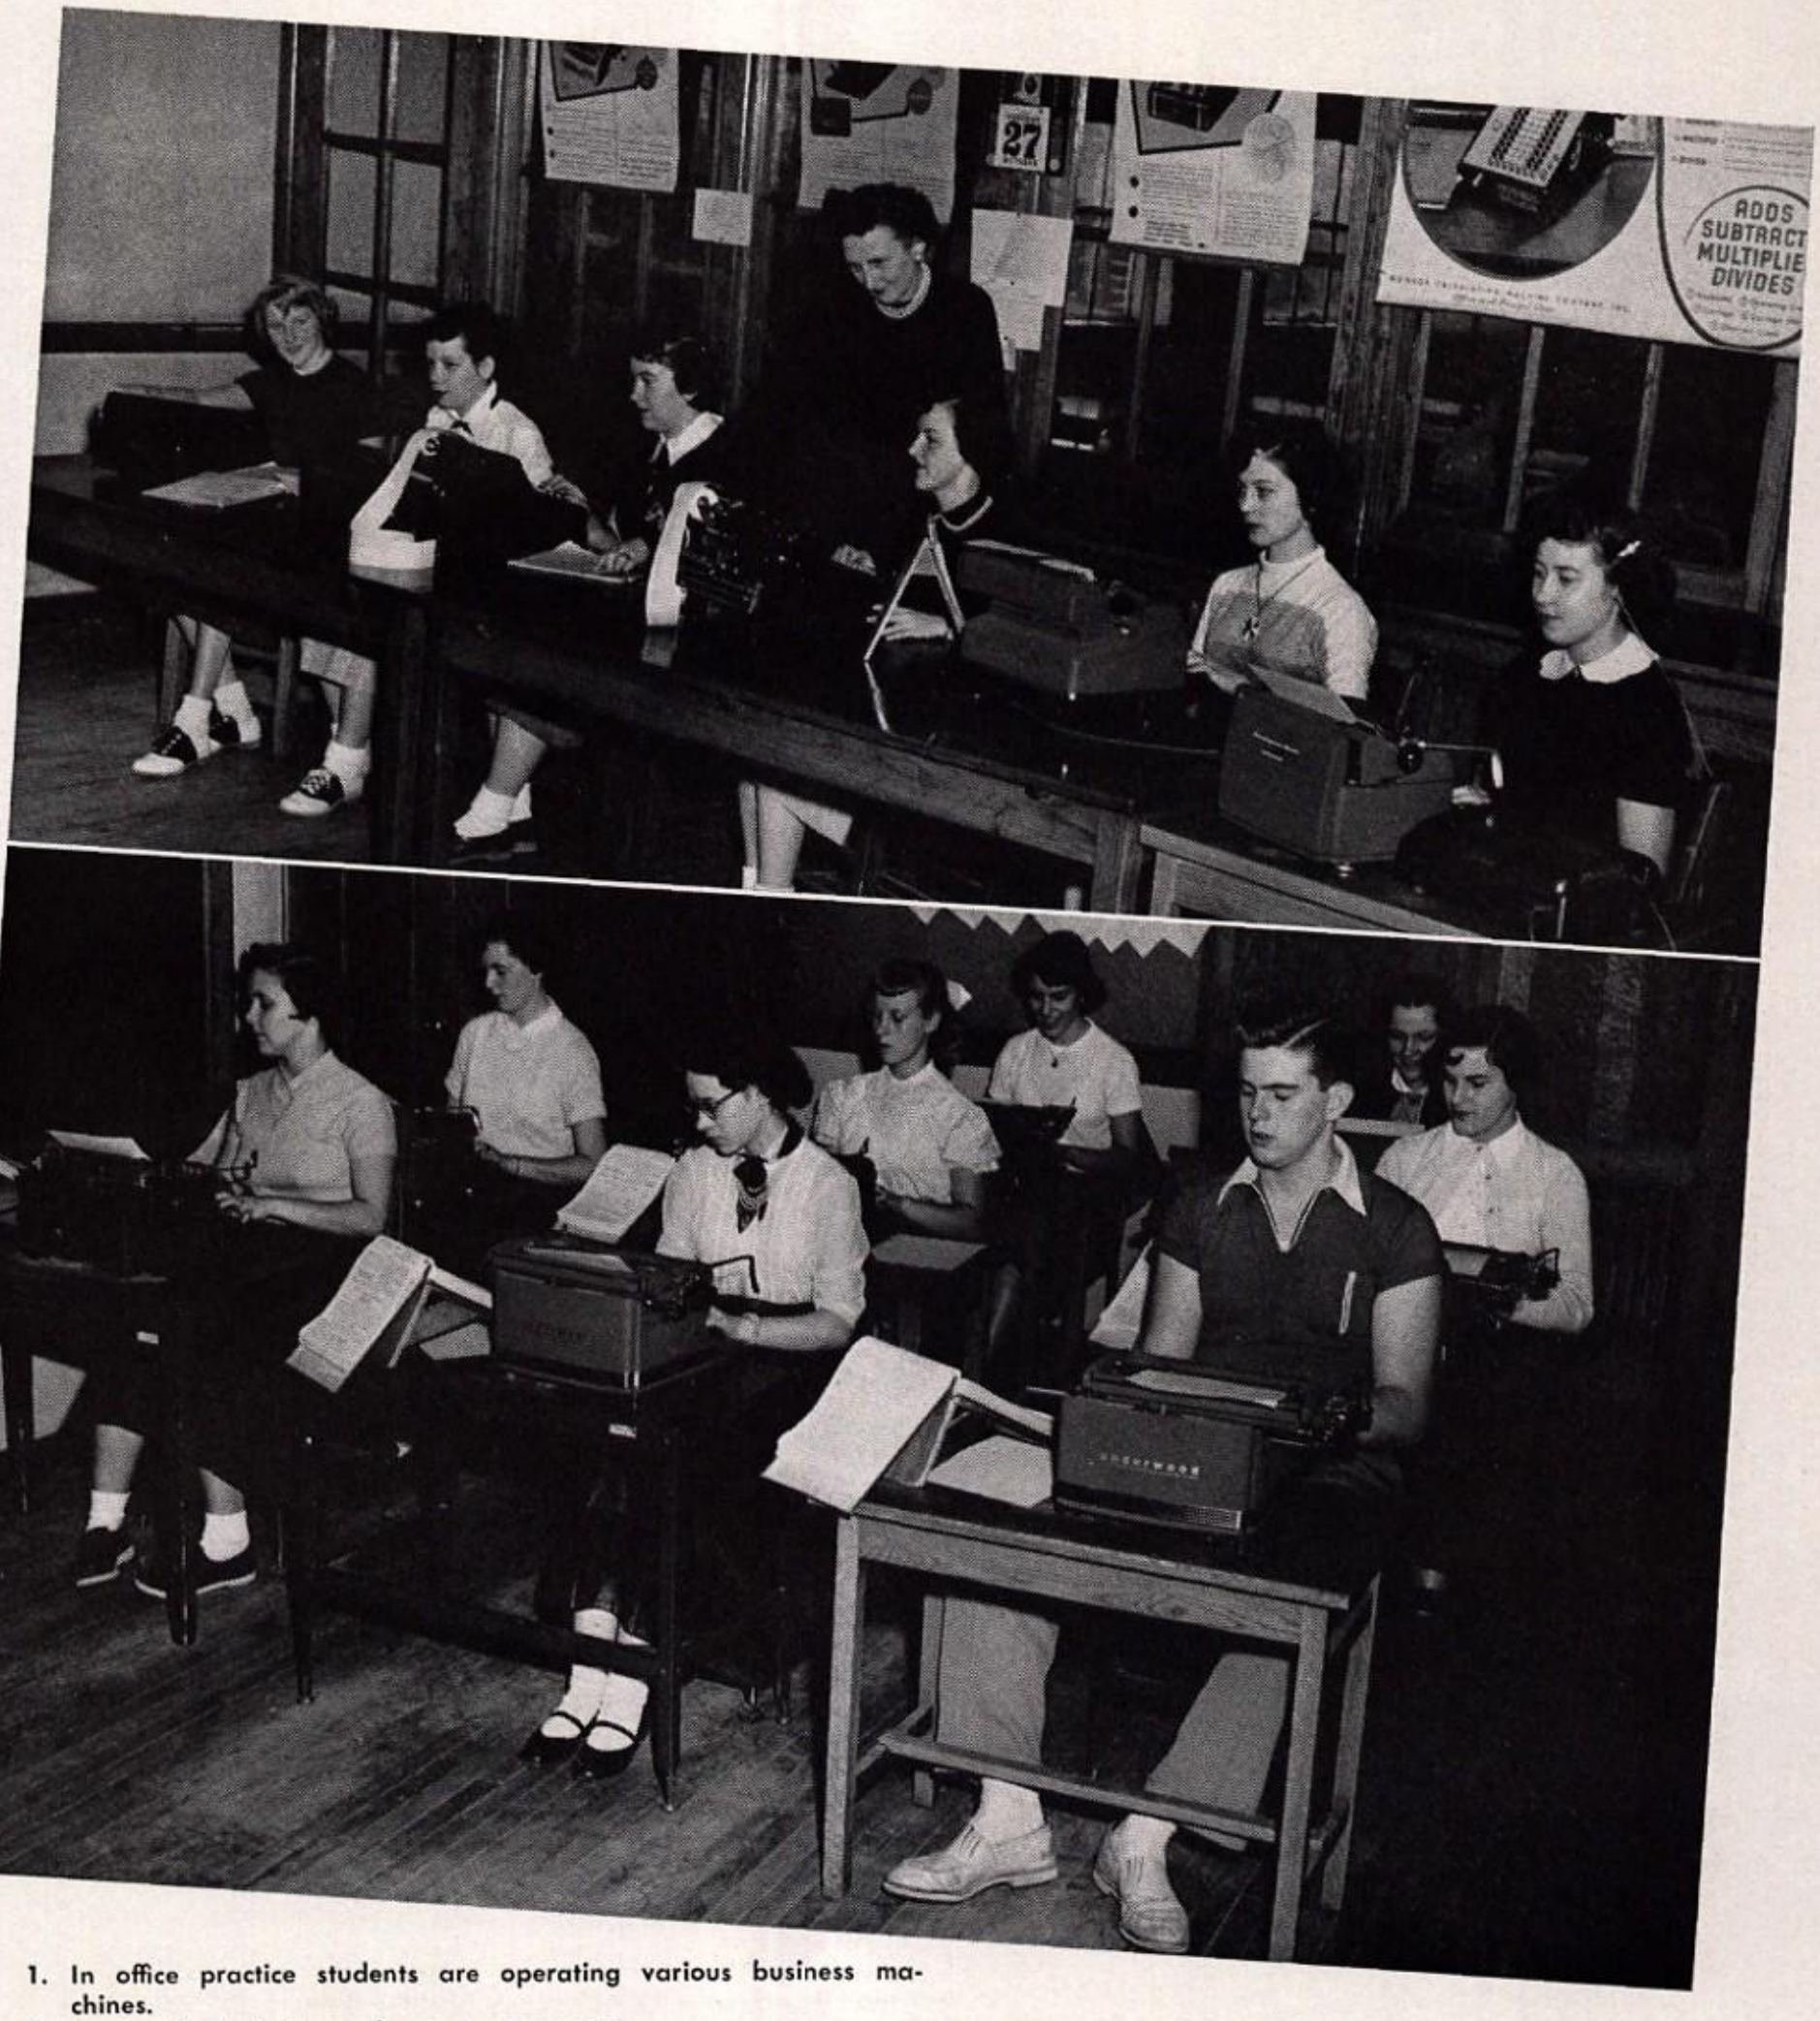
We Study Languages and Around 1914 Latin and German were included in the only course offered in high school while Greek was an elective. Today Latin is required only in the academic course, while German is elective.

1. Charmaine Washko explains a sentence to German I students.
2. Carol Elkins makes a report on Roman roads to the sophomore Latin class.

Learn To Use Office Machines

When the commercial course was introduced in 1918, it included only bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing.

Since then, office practice has been added to teach the use of various machines prevalent in our local offices. Among the machines which our students learn to operate are calculators, duplicating machines, and the Allen Wales. The most recent additions to our office equipment include an electric typewriter and a dictaphone.



1. In office practice students are operating various business machines.
2. Typing II students work on a manuscript.

We Work Wit

1. In order to plan well-balanced meals, students study food charts.
2. Students work on shop machines.

The sixteen girls in the Foods Cl learn essential consumer informati stressing the reading of labels on pac ages, buying and caring for differe types of foods in the home, governme grades of fruits, vegetables, and mea the planning, preparing, and serving well-balanced meals; and table settin table service, and table manners.

In 1924 Industrial Arts was introduce in Nazareth High School. Because of th present limited room and facilities, only twenty-two boys could be scheduled this year. With modern machinery the students are able to make stands, tables, cabinets, gun racks, and other furniture. Besides making furniture, students learn to sand, varnish, paint, and refinish material.

Our Hands

To learn hair styling and care, students practice on each other.

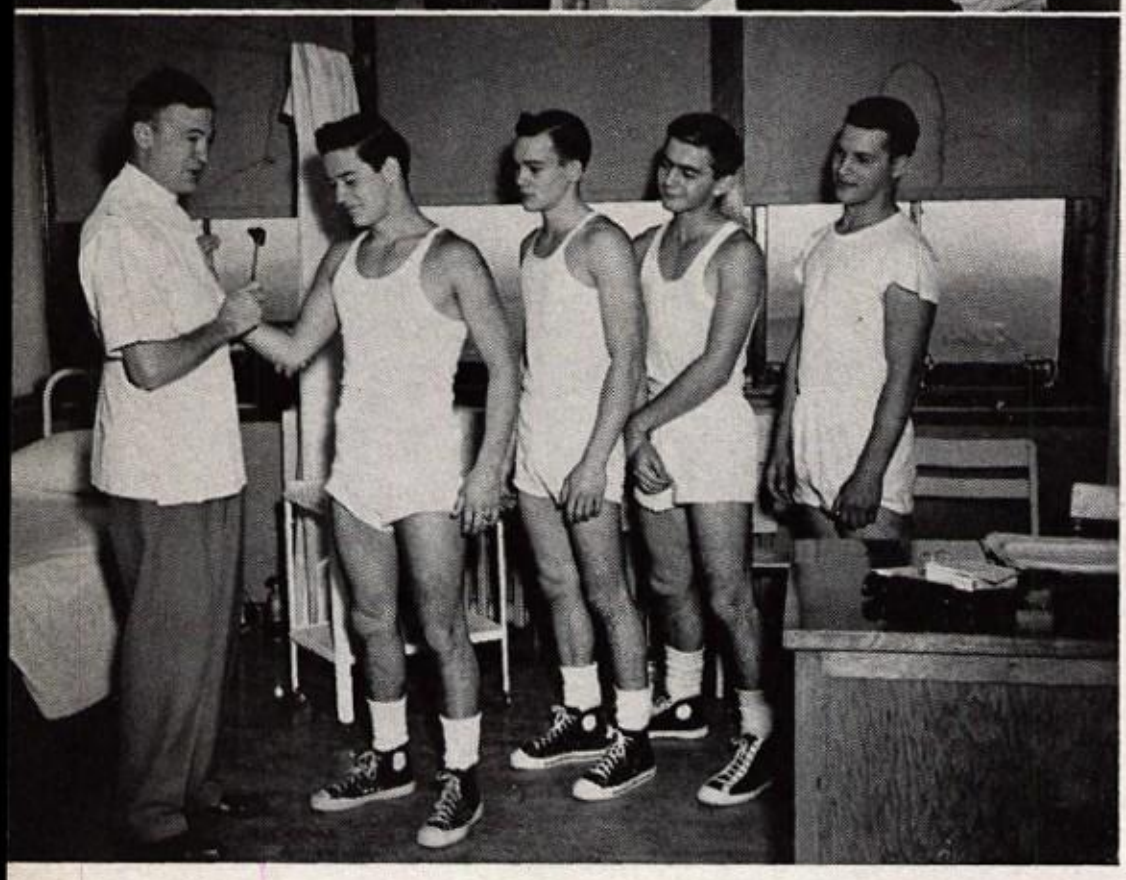
In 1924 sewing was introduced at Nazareth High School. Some years later the course was broadened to include interior decorating, budgeting, good grooming, manners, and personality improvement.

There are approximately twenty girls, including sophomores, juniors, and seniors, in this year's clothing class. These students learn how to select proper clothing, and study color and textile designs, the care of clothing, pattern selection, and clothing construction.

In 1924 art was added to the curriculum. Although at first there were few senior high school students, the interest in art increased so that separate classes were scheduled for the sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Today there is a tremendous interest in the various phases of art, but because it is a required course in junior high school only twenty-nine senior high students could be accommodated in art classes this year.

Annually the Nazareth Junior Woman's Club offers three prizes to students for outstanding excellence in art work for the year. In 1953 Gene Rader won first prize; William Clift, second; and John Price, third.

To advertise the senior play, art students paint posters.



1. Dr. Uhler examines Patricia Koehler's teeth as Claire Kostenbader awaits her turn.
2. Dr. Fraunfelder examines boys for sports.

Checking Physical Welfare

With the employment of a medical inspector and a part-time nurse in 1928, a school health program was initiated in the Nazareth School District.

By state legislation in 1945, the health program was expanded to provide a thorough medical and dental examination for every student while enrolled in the odd grades. Audio-meter and visual testing is an important part of this examination. Special emphasis is placed on the correction of defects. Chest x-rays are done annually.

All boys participating in competitive sports are examined by Dr. John Fraunfelder, school medical inspector.

Learning by Driving

As a means of promoting better teen-age driving, Driver Education, in which the students are taught the functioning and maintenance of the car, rules of the road, and are given instruction in a dual-control car, was introduced in 1947. To complete the course, the students take an examination to obtain a driver's license.

3. Happy students return from Driver Education.

n junior history class, students present a short skit.

A sophomore history class works on visual aids.

Studying Past and Present World Problems

Formerly in history class textbooks were the main source of information. Today current events from newspapers and magazines supplement the textbook material. The visual aids used include maps, charts, and movies.

We Mode

Since senior high school Home Economics is an electiv approximately only twenty girls were able to schedule the cours this year.

Each girl chooses her project and makes a dress, an eve ning gown, play togs, slacks, a skirt, a blouse, a suit, a duste or pajamas.

Besides working on garments, the students study variou textiles and learn to work with them. Styles and color charts are studied, enabling the students to select styles and colors to com plement and fit their personalities. Students learn how to care for clothing, and the fundamentals of good grooming, and what constitutes good manners.

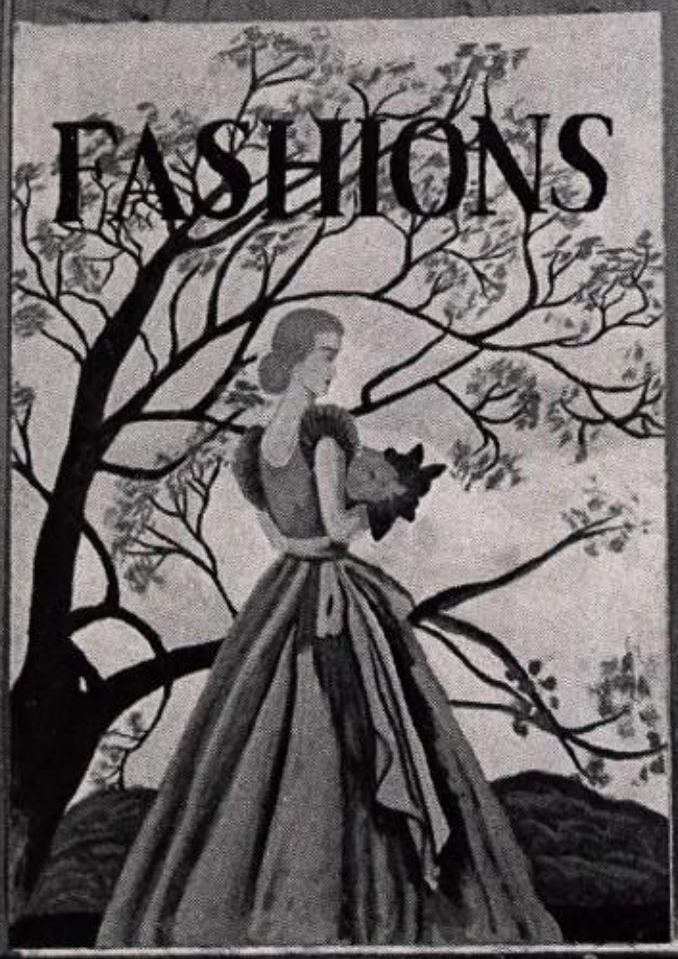
The part of the work that is devoted to good grooming in- cludes the care of the hair, face, nails, and good posture. The girls are also taught how to apply make-up to accent their natural looks.

In May of each year at the Junior Senior High School Fashion Show, the students model their creations. Three prizes, selected by a committee of three judges, are awarded for the best work- manship, styling, and suitability of individual projects. The following senior high school students earned awards: Jacque- lynne Hartman, first prize for a spring coat; Grace Rodgers, second prize for a skirt and blouse; and Roberta Shoemaker, third prize for an informal afternoon dress.

Last year the three judges were Mrs. Harley Yeisley, Mrs. Raymond Christman, and Mrs. Troy Rhoades.

1. Myrtle Shafer and Kathryn Weiss model dress suits.
2. Carol Elkins and her sister step out in summer dresses.
3. Maryann Young is prepared to lounge in her gold printed duster and pajamas.
4. Wearing informal afternoon dresses, Gwendolyn Michael, Harriett Kraemer, Martha Siegfried, Patricia Koehler, Roberta Shoemaker, and Delores Shingler are ready for a garden party.

Apparel for All Occasions



We Exhibit O

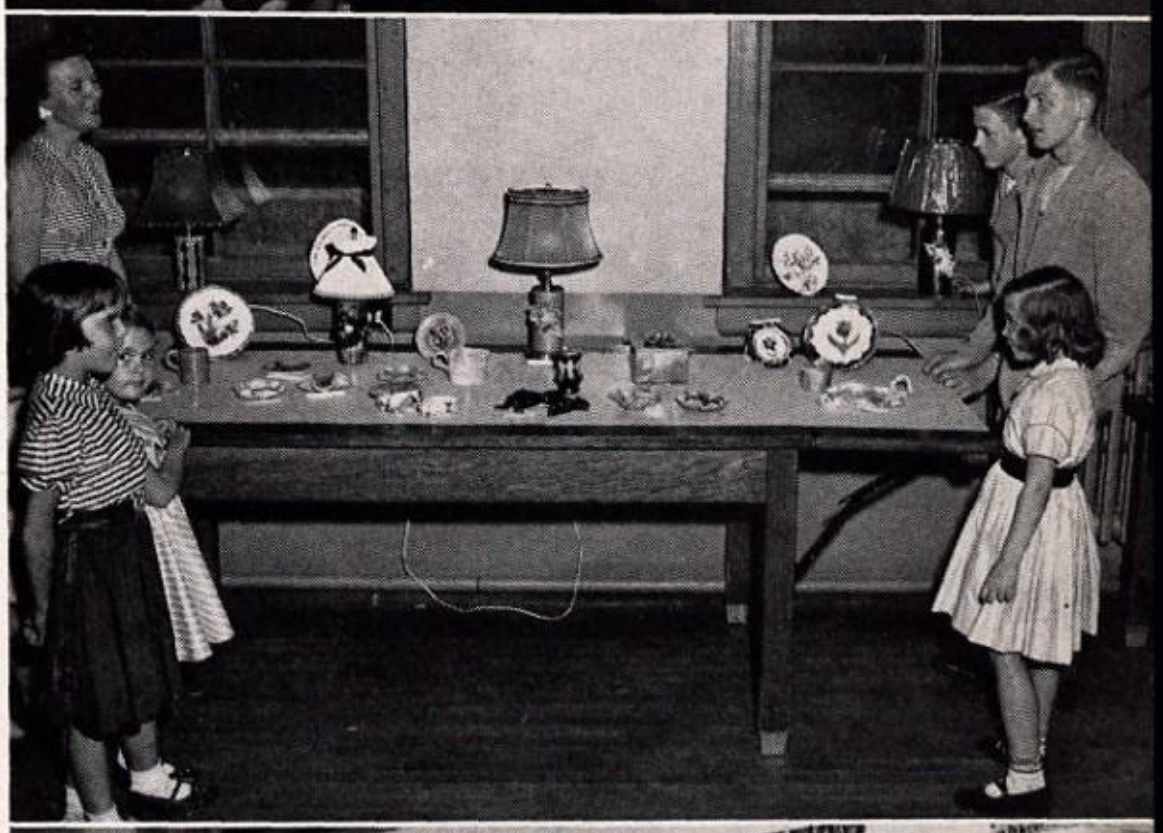
Since art has been introduced in senior high school, it has grown from work in pencil, water color, and poster painting to include charcoal, pen and ink, pastels, oils, ceramics, and metal tooling work. The many varieties of subjects done in these different media include landscape, illustrations, poster design, small sculpture and pottery, fabric design, portrait sketching, and cartooning.

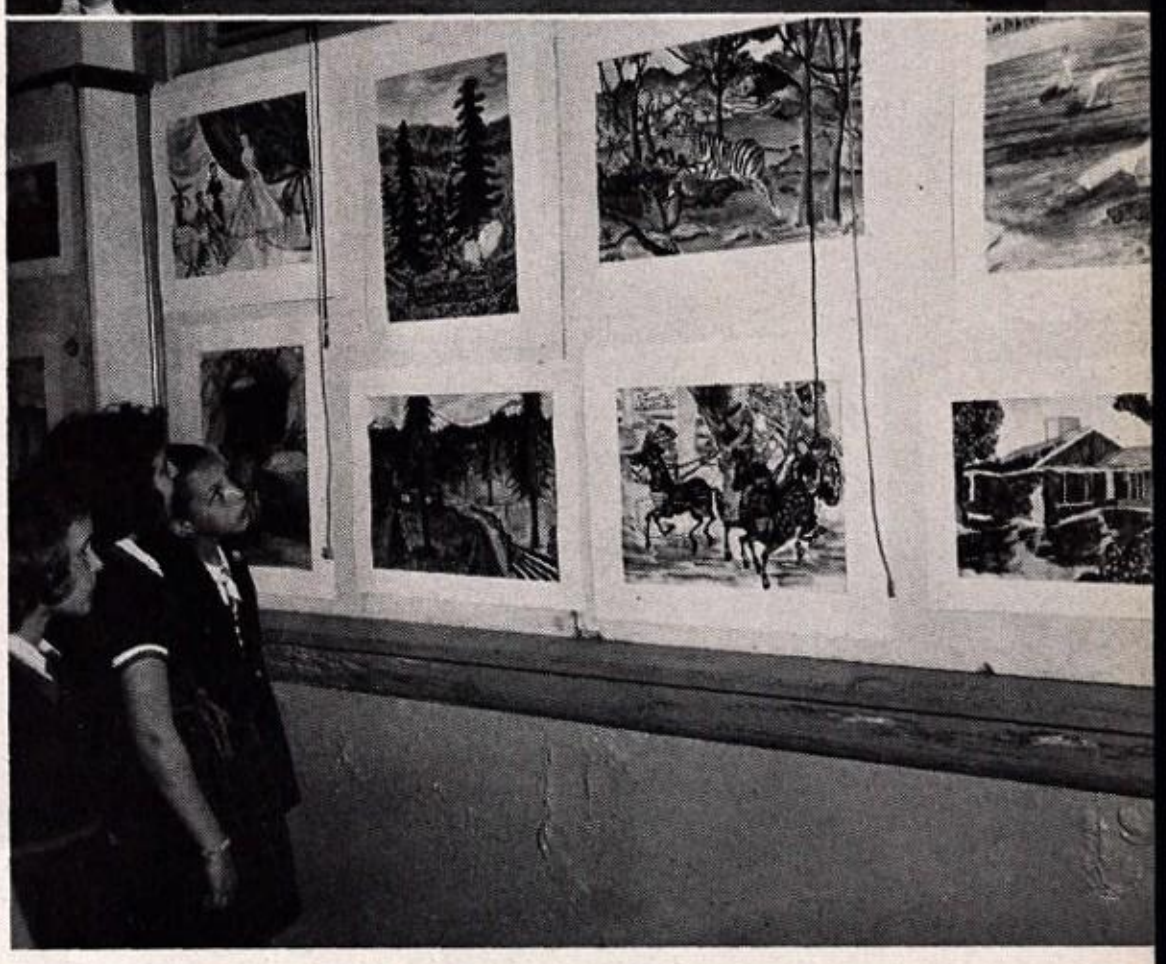
About fifteen years ago for the first time posters were entered in a contest at the Nazareth Senior Woman's Club Flower Show. Since then the students have participated in annual Poppy, Health, Lions Club Minstrel, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Safety poster contests.

In design students create patterns suitable for fabric or wallpaper. Then in correlation with Home Economics classes the girls design and stencil decorations on skirts, blouses, and aprons which they have made.

About ten years ago ceramic art was added to the course. Originally the work was done in self-hardening clay. This limited the articles to knick-knacks and decorative pieces. Approximately a year later the first 3″ by 4″ by 4″ kiln was added. This kiln limited the number of students that could participate in ceramics. Today we have three kilns, the largest is 16″ by 20″ by 20″, so that the students can make larger articles. These extra kilns enable more students to participate and also permit a greater variety of objects to be made. Ceramics, although comparatively new, is one of the most popular fields of art work.

ear's Art Creations





1. Students examine the work of Edna Freestone, a graduate of Kutztown State Teachers College.

2. Student portraits are displayed.

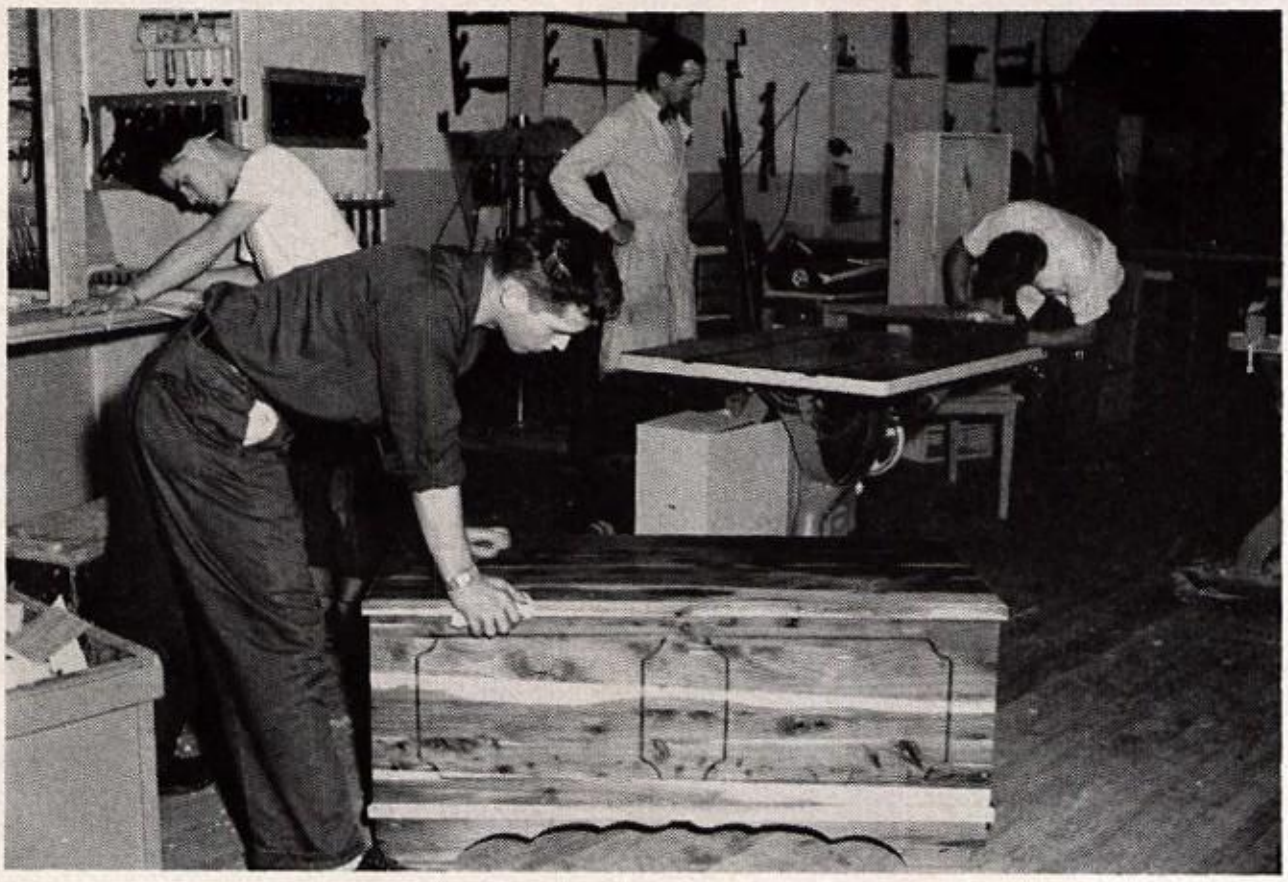
3. Senior high school students demonstrate water color painting and pen and ink sketching for visitors.

4. Spectators enjoy landscapes, illustrations, posters, and water colors.

5. Colorful ceramics attract visitors.

6. Children inspect water color landscapes and illustrations.

Industrial Arts Students Work on Their Projects



Ulis Temos sands his cedar chest; Arthur Reph works on a tier top corner table.

Since our shop is equipped with up-to-date machinery, the students make stands, tables, wardrobes, chests, gun racks, and other furniture. Besides making furniture, students also learn how to sand, varnish, paint, and polish their projects.

Since industrial art is elective in senior high school, approximately twenty-five boys were scheduled for this course the past year.

Each year there is a showing of the student work at the annual Art Exhibition.

Last year the following boys were awarded prizes for outstanding work: Ralph Wentzell and John Smith, co-winners, first prize; Arthur Reph, second prize.

Football

When Nazareth High School introduced football in 1926, the first team played a three-game schedule on the old Nazareth Hall field. Since then Coach Andy Leh has led the Nazareth lads to five league championships and four co-championships.

In 1953 the Blue Eagles of Nazareth Area High School finished the season as co-champions of the Lehigh Northampton Interscholastic Athletic League. The only game lost was an independent one, played with the undefeated Whitehall Zephyrs.

Opening the season with Nesquehoning, the fighting Blue Eagles' fumbles and inexperience proved costly. After stopping many of Nesquehoning's drives, the Nazareth eleven finally started a drive of their own, climaxed by a touchdown run by Don Nikles. In the second half Don Nikles again climaxed two drives by scoring two more touchdowns, and Andy Leh, Jr. added the two extra points for a 20-0 score.

In the second game the Eagles met the powerful Whitehall Zephyrs, who took a commanding lead early in the game. Nazareth's only score came on the sixty yard run by Ray Douglas. Andy Leh, Jr. added the extra point and the score stood 27 to 7 in favor of Whitehall as the whistle sounded.

With the scent of victory in their nostrils the Blue Eagles pursued their second and third league victories on two consecutive Saturdays. Both Hellertown and Coplay succumbed quite readily. With early game leads, Blue Eagle substitutes played the remaining quarters in both games.

*Home Games

For their fifth game the Blue Eagles met an inspired Pen Argyl squad. Pen Argyl played hard and staved off the Eagles' offense until the closing minutes of the second quarter when Frank Nikles, after a 75 yard march, finally scored on a short pass. The second half proved to be just as difficult as the first half with great defensive football being played by Pen Argyl, holding the Blue Eagles five times within the 10 yard line. Nazareth scored once more before the game ended to nose out Pen Argyl 13 to 0.

Bangor, a traditional rival, played host to the Blue Eagles in an important and decisive league contest. Metz scored the only touchdown of the game on a pass from Ray Douglas. Protecting their one touchdown lead, the Blue Eagles played fine defensive football the remainder of the game to eke out a narrow win over Bangor.

Eager to avenge the previous year's defeat, the Blue Eagles met the Emmaus eleven with high spirits. Playing on a muddy field, the Nazareth eleven bulldozed their way to three touchdowns. Emmaus scored only once, a long pass in the final quarter.

Football

Metz breaks loose on an end run.

In the contest that was the gateway to the championship, the Blue Eagles met the East Stroudsburg eleven. The game was closely contested throughout. Andy Leh, Jr. broke a last quarter tie by scoring the game-winning touchdown on a quarterback sneak, resulting in a 14-7 win.

After catching a forward pass, Frank Nikles eludes a Wilson tackler.

Frank Nikles out-jumps a Wilson player for another completed forward pass.

Highlights

Nazareth and Wilson met in the annual Thanksgiving Day game to decide the league championship. After a hard fought first half, both teams managed to score one touchdown. In the second half the Blue Eagles managed to get two quick touchdowns to pull ahead decisively. Wilson, pressing hard, managed to tie the score before the game ended. Having entered the game as the underdog, the Blue Eagles completely outplayed the Wilson Warriors and could feel proud of their achievement. The final result was that Nazareth and Wilson ended the season as co-champs of the Lehigh-Northampton League.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Last April the sport managers and faculty advisers ose this year's varsity cheerleaders.

With the opening of school in September, the cheer- aders worked with Mrs. Heckman during the activity eriod each Wednesday to develop their routines for e games.

During the football and basketball seasons, the varsity cheerleaders traveled to all games.

On March 18, several of our cheerleaders attended a cheerleading conference at Easton High School, where cheerleading problems and activities were discussed.

Mrs. Margaret Heckman is Cheerleader Adviser.

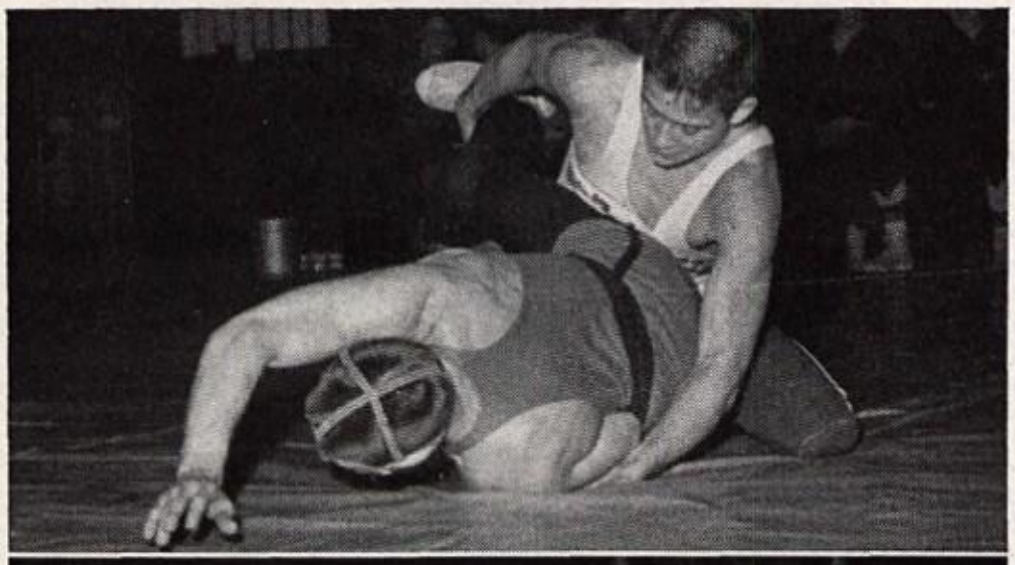
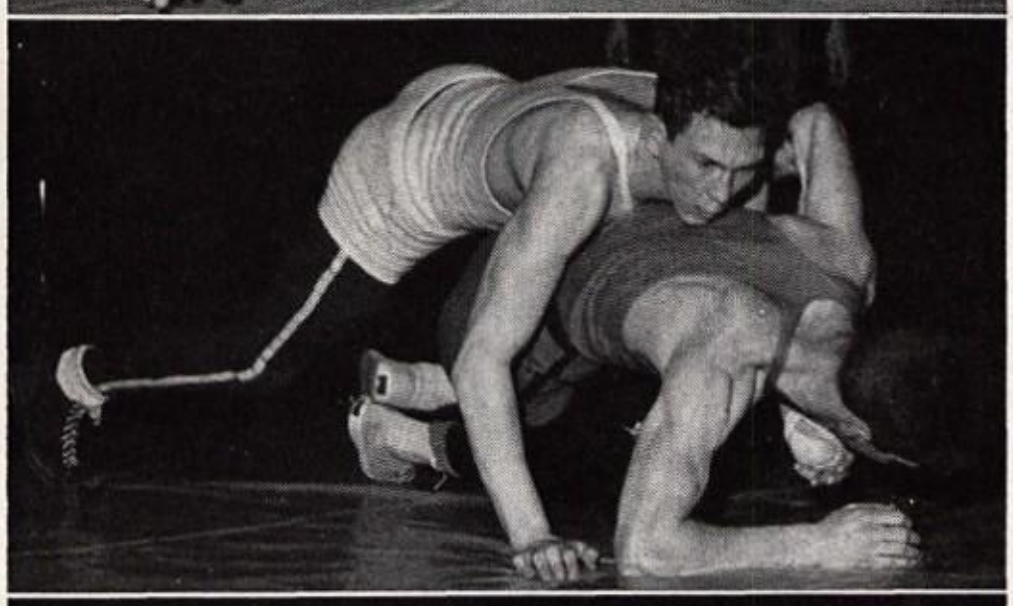
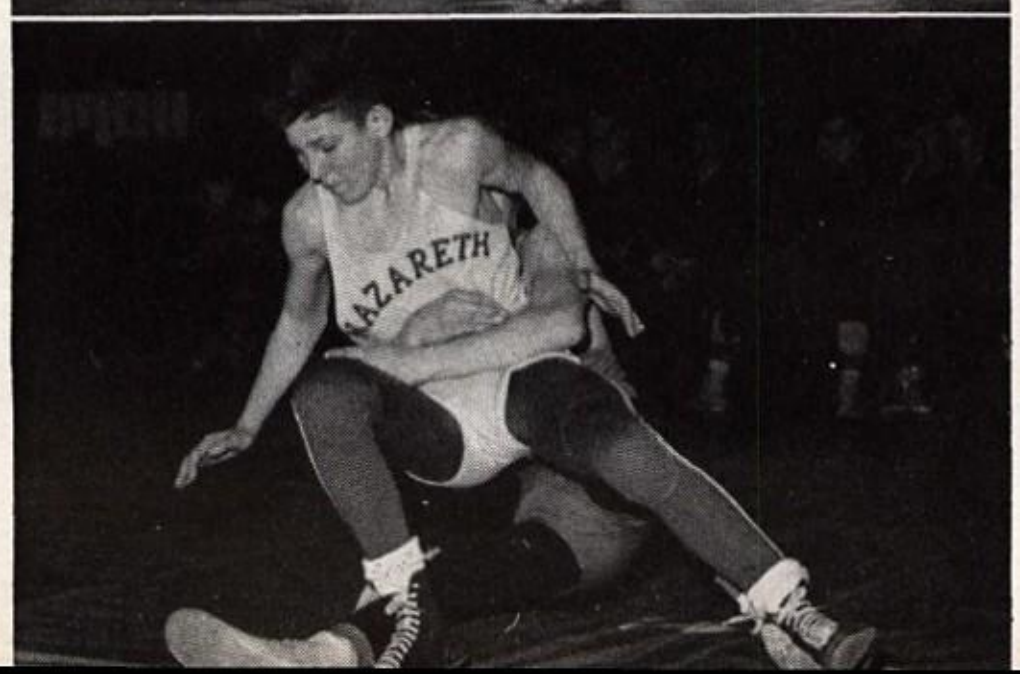
WRESTLING SQUAD







By starting a wrestling club in 1949, Coach Skut laid the foundation for the first wrestling team i 1950.

With only four lettermen returning in the 1953-5 season, the Blue Eagle grapplers ended the seaso with a record of four wins and seven losses. Th ninety-five pound class had to be forfeited as Naza reth had no one who could make that weight.

Notable among the individual achievements of th year were: (1) Harold Wilson's non-losing streak in hi own weight class during the past two years; (2 William Daney's winning five out of eight bouts wit four of these being pins; (3) and Richard Metz, a firs year squad member, winning six out of nine bouts.

J. V. BASKETBALL SQUAD

Coach Don Smith, Manager Da
Robert Shekletski, Andrew Leh, Jr

Back around 1918 basketball became an official school sport with a faculty coach; before that time students played in various places about town.

The 1953-1954 edition of the Nazareth Blue Eagles Basketball team overcome a height deficiency by showing great aggressiveness and accurate shooting. These features enabled the cagers to post a .500 record in league plays.

The highlight of the season came when the Blue Eagles upset the powerful Fountain Hillers, who were runner-ups in the league race, by a 64 to 59 score on the Nazareth hardwood.

The bulk of the scoring hinged on the fine efforts of Bill Agnew and Captain Bob Shekletski. Agnew, the team's most consistent scorer, set a new school season scoring mark by rimming 397 points, and set a new school single game mark by pumping home 45 points in his final scholastic appearance against the Green Waves of Pen Argyl High. Bill also copped the league high-scoring laurels.

Shekletski took second high scoring honors with 315 points. His driving lay-ups and accurate foul shooting accounted for most of his tallies.

Shekletski moves into position to receive a pass from a teammate.

Lehigh-Northampton League

eginning on an organized scale in the spring of 7, the first baseball team of fifteen boys was in- cted by Coach Leh, the present baseball coach. calibre of baseball played by the first teams was al to that of today's teams of thirty or forty boys.

or a number of years the teams practiced on a keshift infield to the east of the present high ool, with an occasional practice on the Nazareth l Military Academy diamond, the present site of Memorial Library. When the Trombower Athletic ld was built, a baseball diamond was laid out on east end of the field and for a number of years s sport was carried on here. Finally baseball ac- ired its own field and today has a spacious lot jacent to the football field.

In the early years the games were played on Sat- day afternoons on Nazareth Hall Military Academy amond. Large crowds attended the games and com- tition was keen. Today baseball is an after-school sport with spectator interest somewhat less than in past years.

Over a period of years Nazareth High dominated the baseball championships in the Lehigh-Northamp- ton County League, with two District XI Champion- ships and numerous undefeated seasons.

The 1953 Blue Eagles completed a highly success- ful season with seven wins and four losses, while the six and two league log gave them a three-way tie for league honors with Parkland and Bangor. Naza- reth eliminated Bangor by a seven to three count but was defeated, in the championship game, by Park- land to the tune of nine to one.

Walakovits led the batters with a .410 average, followed by Senneca and Rissmiller with .403 and .350 averages, respectively. In the pitching depart- ment Weaver had a clean slate with a four and zero record.

For several years after the introduction of physical ucation into the high school curriculum, Coach An- ew Leh handled both boys' and girls' gym classes. ginning in the fall of 1929, a woman faculty mem- r was hired to teach physical education and coach e girls' sports.

Last spring, for the first time, badminton and archery were added to the sports—volleyball, basketball, and baseball—already taught in gym classes. The girls enjoy these sports indoors as well as outdoors when weather permits.

Braving the brisk autumn winds, hockey enthusiasts competed for the school championship. After rough and vigorous battles, the Stopettes won the final championship.

After fifteen exciting basketball games, the semi-final and school champions were chosen. The junior Jollyteers defeated the sophomore PS's for the semi-final crown. Then the Jollyteers, led by co-captains Yvonne Jones and Stepheny Nichols, captured the school championship from the senior Zombies, 20 to 19, in an exciting game.

In the 1953 volleyball season, the senior champs defeated the junior semi-final winners for the school championship.

After weeks of rehearsal, the momentous evening had finally arrived. Butterflies flitted in the actors' stomachs. One last hurried behind-the-scenes glance at playbooks.

"Lights! Curtain!" shouted Mr. Kostenbader, the director.

Slowly the curtain opened and Mama Aukamp took the audience right into the heart of the family with her opening words:

"It's such a funny evening out, Jake. A full moon it gives and it's daylight still."

Against this colorful background in a Pennsylvania German farmhouse with its dower chest, Dutch cabinet, and windsor chair, Mama Aukamp connived to get daughter Emma to go to a movie with her boyfriend against Papa's wishes, and she managed while quilting to pick up all the local gossip, despite Papa's desire to keep this family in strict religious isolation.

Jake's and Emma's teamwork and Mama's connivance in defeating Papa's plans kept the audience in suspense throughout the performance.

Brendle is preparing to take Papa to jail for wounding the wrong man.

ART EDITORS

The first Nazareth High School Comet, published in 1920, was a 7½ x 9½ inch paper bound volume. Then in 1927 the yearbook was enlarged to its present size and had a stiff paper cover.

Although those early books contained comparatively few pictures and little art work, they contained jokes, poems, class histories, and the class will and prophecy.

Beginning in 1947, our yearbook began to picture school events. Today action shots, covering the entire year's events—curriculum, classes, activities, clubs, and sports—are included. Since 1949 a standard

The first issue of the Blue and White Standard, our school paper, rolled off the press in 1929. It had four pages with three columns to a page. Its staff of twenty-five members covered school, alumni, sports, and club news, book reviews, and editorials. There were no photographs and few cuts. During the year thirteen issues were published.

The Blue and White Standard of today has been much improved by constant evaluation and criticism from the Columbia and the Pennsylvania School Press Associations. It usually contains four pages with fou columns to a page, one of which is devoted to junio high school news.

The present staff is composed of thirty-eight mem bers, three of whom are co-editors. Photographs an cuts enliven and add interest to the paper. Eight is sues are published during the year. Dramatic Club Presents Assembly Plays

The cast of "Andy's Antics" includes Yvonne Getz, Lorraine Steward, Larry Stoudt, Brian Macy, Jean Edelman, Donald DeLong, Charmaine Frey.

Back in 1929 a dramatic club was organized at Nazareth High School and each year since that time there has been a dramatic club.

Today, under the direction of Mrs. Quentin Zell, the thirty-one member club meets each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during activity period.

During the year the club produced four plays which were presented at our assemblies and three of them as exchange programs at Wilson, Pen Argyl, and Bangor High Schools.

In addition to participating in amateur productions, club members attended the Drawing Room Theater in Bethlehem.

The cast of "Life O' the Party" includes Patricia Groman, Helen Stampf, Cosmo DiGerlando, Jerry Goodhart, Larry Stoudt, Francis Grube, Marie Karlowitch, Shirley Ann Bortz, Pauline Stimmel, Lorraine Steward, Wilbur Carl, Michael Kowalchuk.

Stage Craft Club members repair flats and store sets in the understage storage room.

Stage Crafters Prepare Settings

To train students to help in preparing the stage for e numerous high school productions is the function the Stage Craft Club. Organized six years ago and esently composed of an equal number of seniors, niors, and sophomores, the club is divided into com- ttees to handle lighting, staging, sets, properties, and sound effects.

Since Miss Clute has no regular period available, the club members meet with their adviser after school and in the evenings to prepare the stage for the senior play, the operetta, the band concert, and the fashion show.

3. Art Club members work on their individual projects.

Art Club

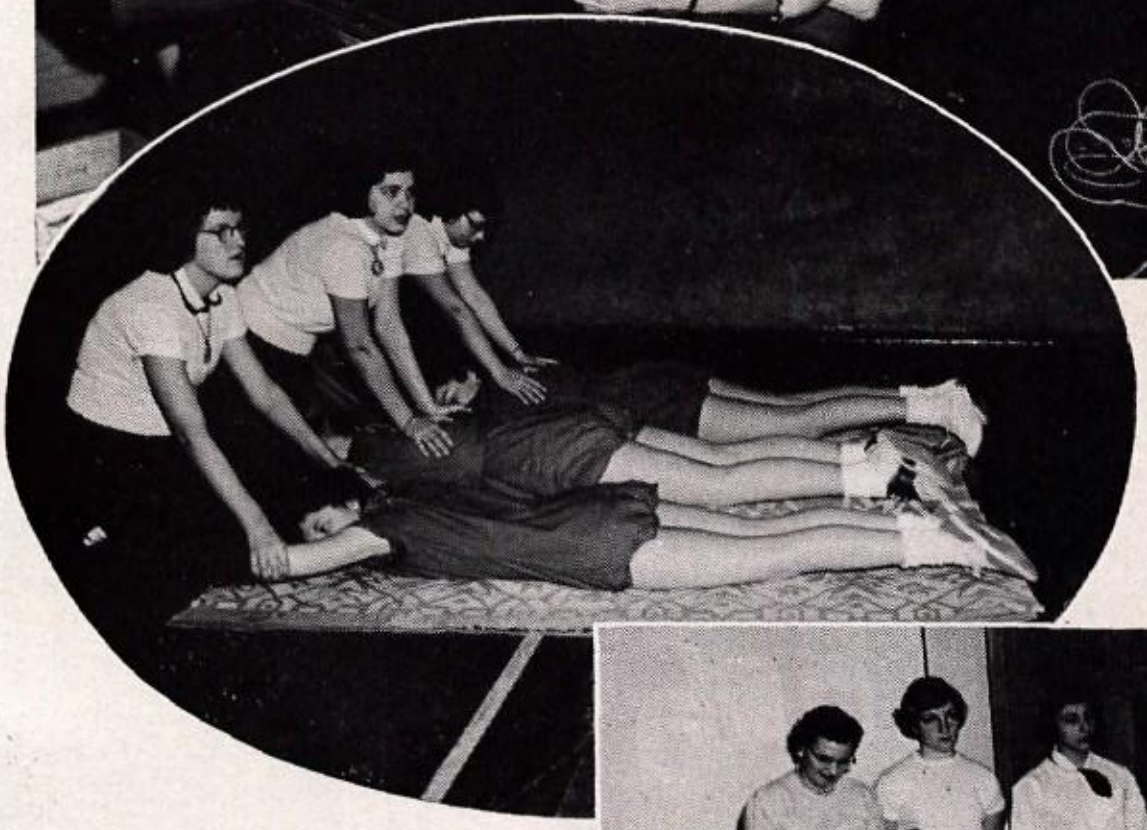
To permit interested students an opportunity for art instruction not possible under the present crowded conditions, Miss Clute began an art club in September.

The eighteen members do the type of art work they like best—mold clay, paint with water color, oil, pastel, or poster paint, or draw with pen and ink or pencil.

Library Club

To train student librarians is the purpose of th nineteen member Library Club which meets ever Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday to check book in and out, to keep the shelves in order, and to repai and classify books. The members assist the librarian before and after school and during library periods.

ovides Enjoyment



1. Craft Club members make raffia baskets.
2. First Aid Club practices artificial respiration.
3. Knitting Club members make scarves, sweaters, and socks.

First Aid Club

Under the supervision of Mrs. McGonigle and Mrs. Bleiler, the eight girls of the First Aid Club master the standard Red Cross First Aid Course. At the end of this course these girls take an examination to qualify for their certificates.

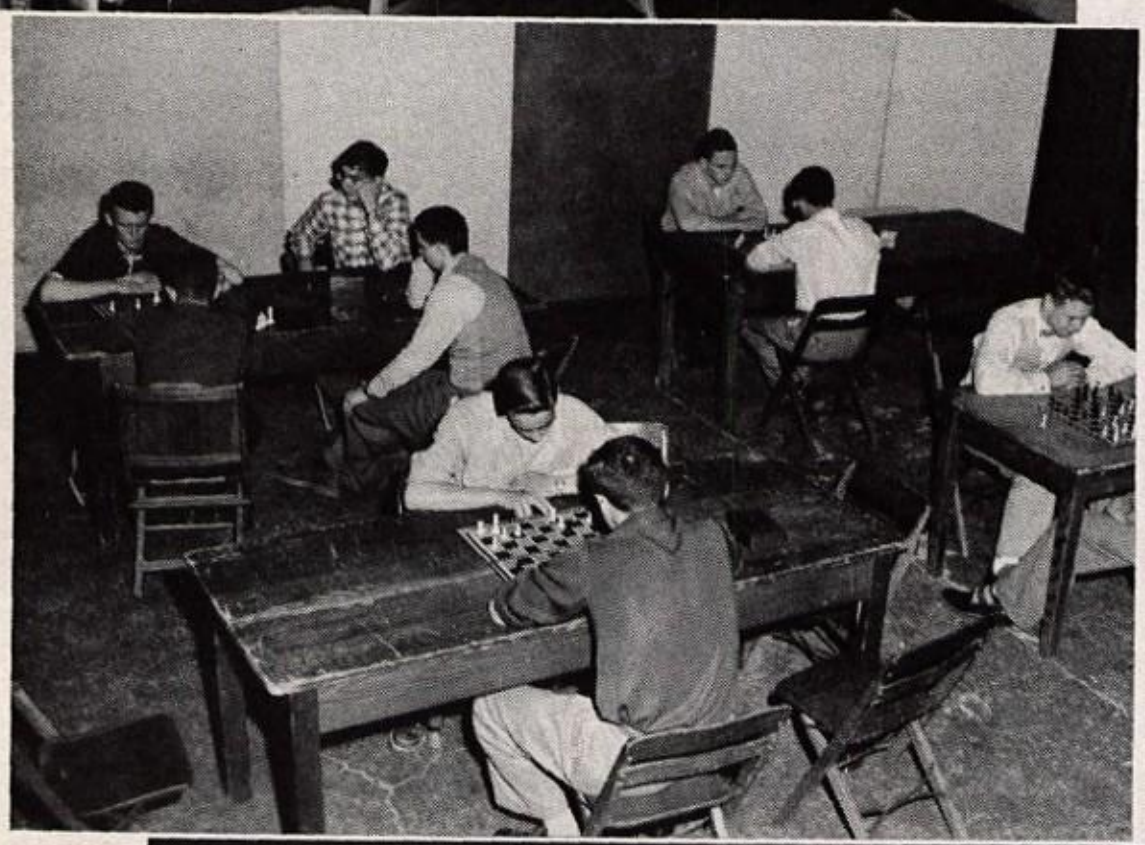
Craft Club

Started in the autumn of 1951 by Mrs. McGonigle, the Craft Club has become very popular with the girls. This club, consisting of thirty-five members, meets each Tuesday and Thursday during activity period.

The girls have made key chains, belts, bracelets, raffia baskets, and crocheted scatter rugs.

Knitting Club

The twenty-one members of the Knitting Club meet every Tuesday and Thursday to learn the fundamentals of knitting from Mrs. Bleiler and Mrs. Metz. After they have mastered the basic skills, they make scarves, ascots, socks, mittens, sweaters, and other articles. At the end of the year their projects are displayed at the Art Exhibition.



1. Students concentrate on a chess game.

2. Arthur Reph, defeated by Dennis Gurski of Allentown, placed second in the Penn-Jersey League. Allan Frantz takes first honors in the consolation tournament.

3. Students practice new steps in Dancing Club.

Chess Enthusias

Battle Opponen

Organized during the 1950-1951 son, the sixty-five member Chess meets each Tuesday and Thursday.

Developing maneuvering skill is club's main objective. Each Wednes seven players of a sixteen-mem squad battle with opponents from Al town and Phillipsburg for the lea championship in the Penn-Jersey In scholastic Chess League.

Since Nazareth entered the leag three years ago, the team has cons ently won the league title each year

Nazareth won the first half champi ship, but lost, for the first time, league championship in the playoffs Allentown by a 4½-2½ score.

Mr. Robert Harding is the club a viser.

Dancing Club

Last September a dancing club for beginners was organ ized. After learning the basi dance steps, the club practiced more advanced steps — the waltz, the rhumba, the tango, the polka, and the jitterbug— with an out-of-school instructor.

Mr. Hughes is the club ad- viser.

Students Enjoy Their Hobbies

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

The photography club, now in its th year, has an average yearly membership of sixteen. The one requirement all students—beginners and advanced—is to submit pictures of their n in a national photo contest.

Today a darkroom and new pieces of uipment enable the members to enrge and develop their photographs.

AERONAUTICS CLUB

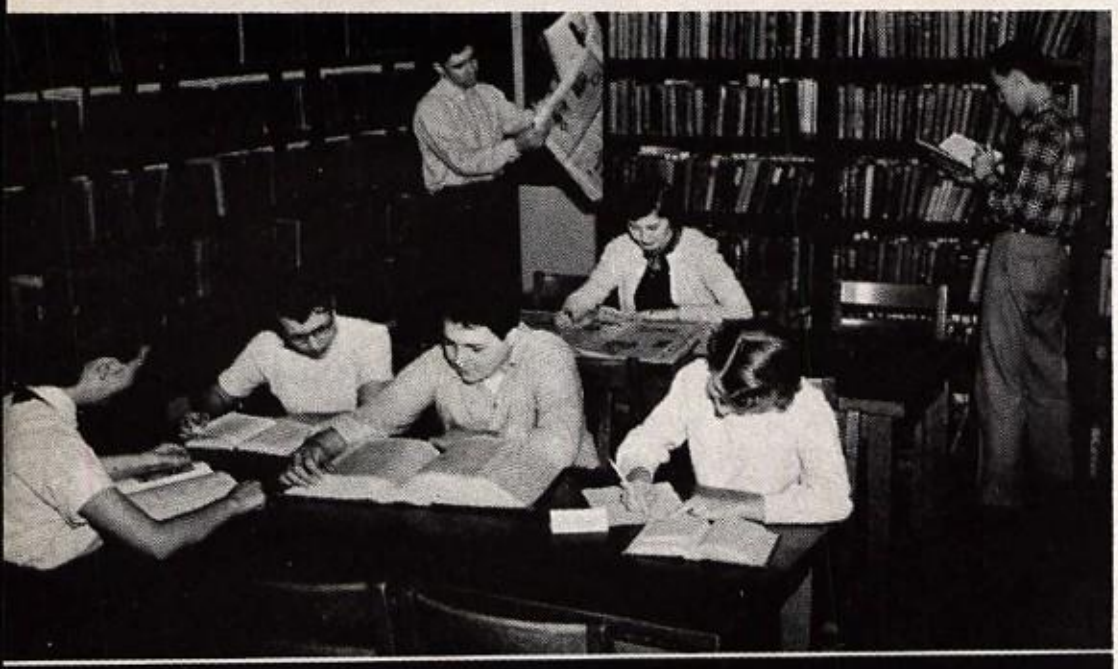
To stimulate interest in aviation, the eronautics Club was formed two years go. Each Tuesday the thirty-member ub studies the principles of flying and arns about opportunities in that field. nother project is constructing model irplanes. Highlighting the year's activies, club members make an actual ight in a Piper Cub.

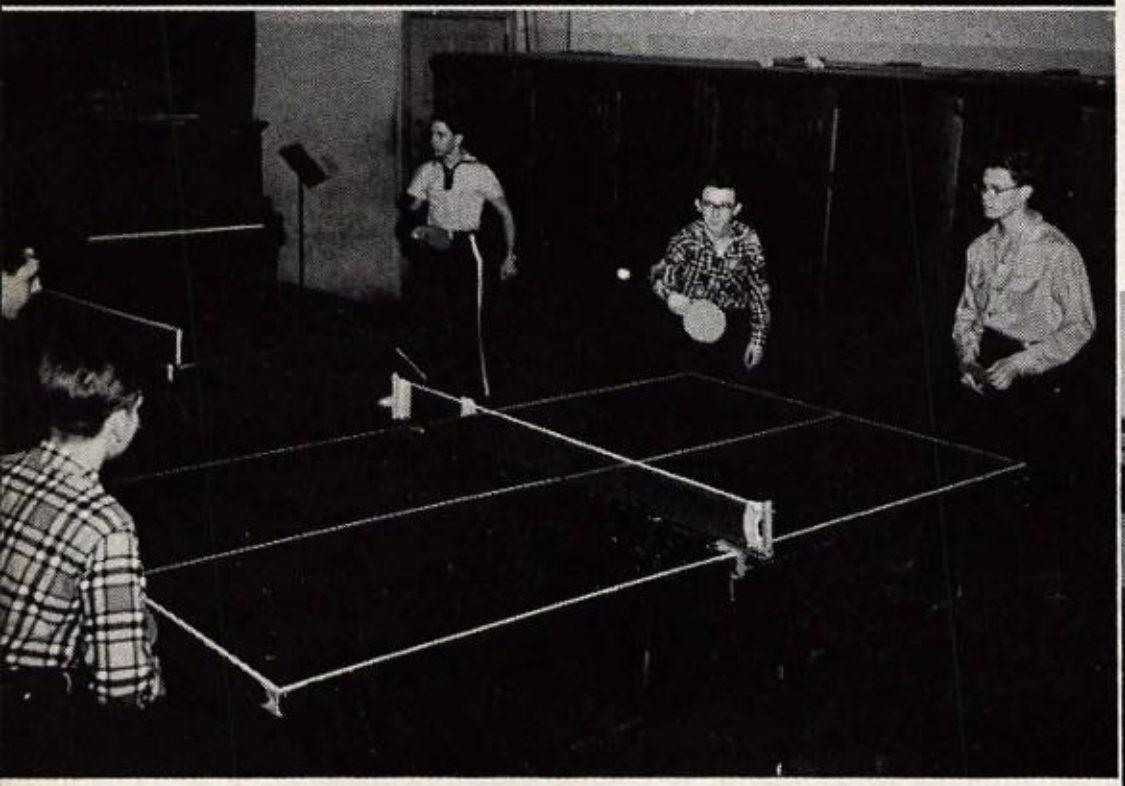
SCIENCE FAIR CLUB

The Science Fair Club, consisting of ten biology, physics, and chemistry students, produced individual projects for the annual Science Fair in which all of the high schools in the Lehigh Valley participated.

1. Photography Club members splice a movie film.
2. Aeronautics Club works at constructing airplanes.
3. Students prepare projects for Science Fair.

Student Council Plans Dance





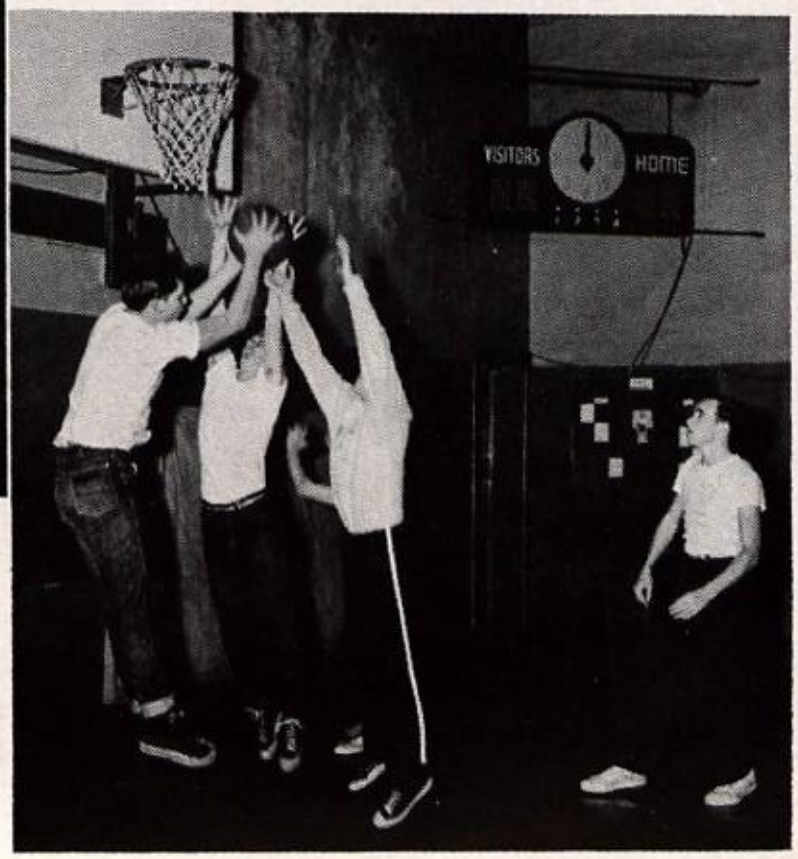
In order to provide noon activity for the many out-of-town students, Mr. Norman Hughes initiated in the fall of 1951, a noon-activity program consisting of dancing and games. Then in January of this year movies were added to the noon-activity program.

Students use the gym and bandroom for playing basketball, ping-pong, quoits, checkers, and cards on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

While junior high students use the auditorium and bandroom on Wednesdays, the senior high students make use of the library.

On Mondays movies are shown in the auditorium, while on Fridays the students dance to recordings or our student orchestra, the Star Dreamers.

Schrammel, Uhler, and Toth jump for a rebound.



1. During the lunch hour students use the library.
2. Students dance to the strains of the Star Dreamers.
3. At noon students play a fast game of ping-pong.

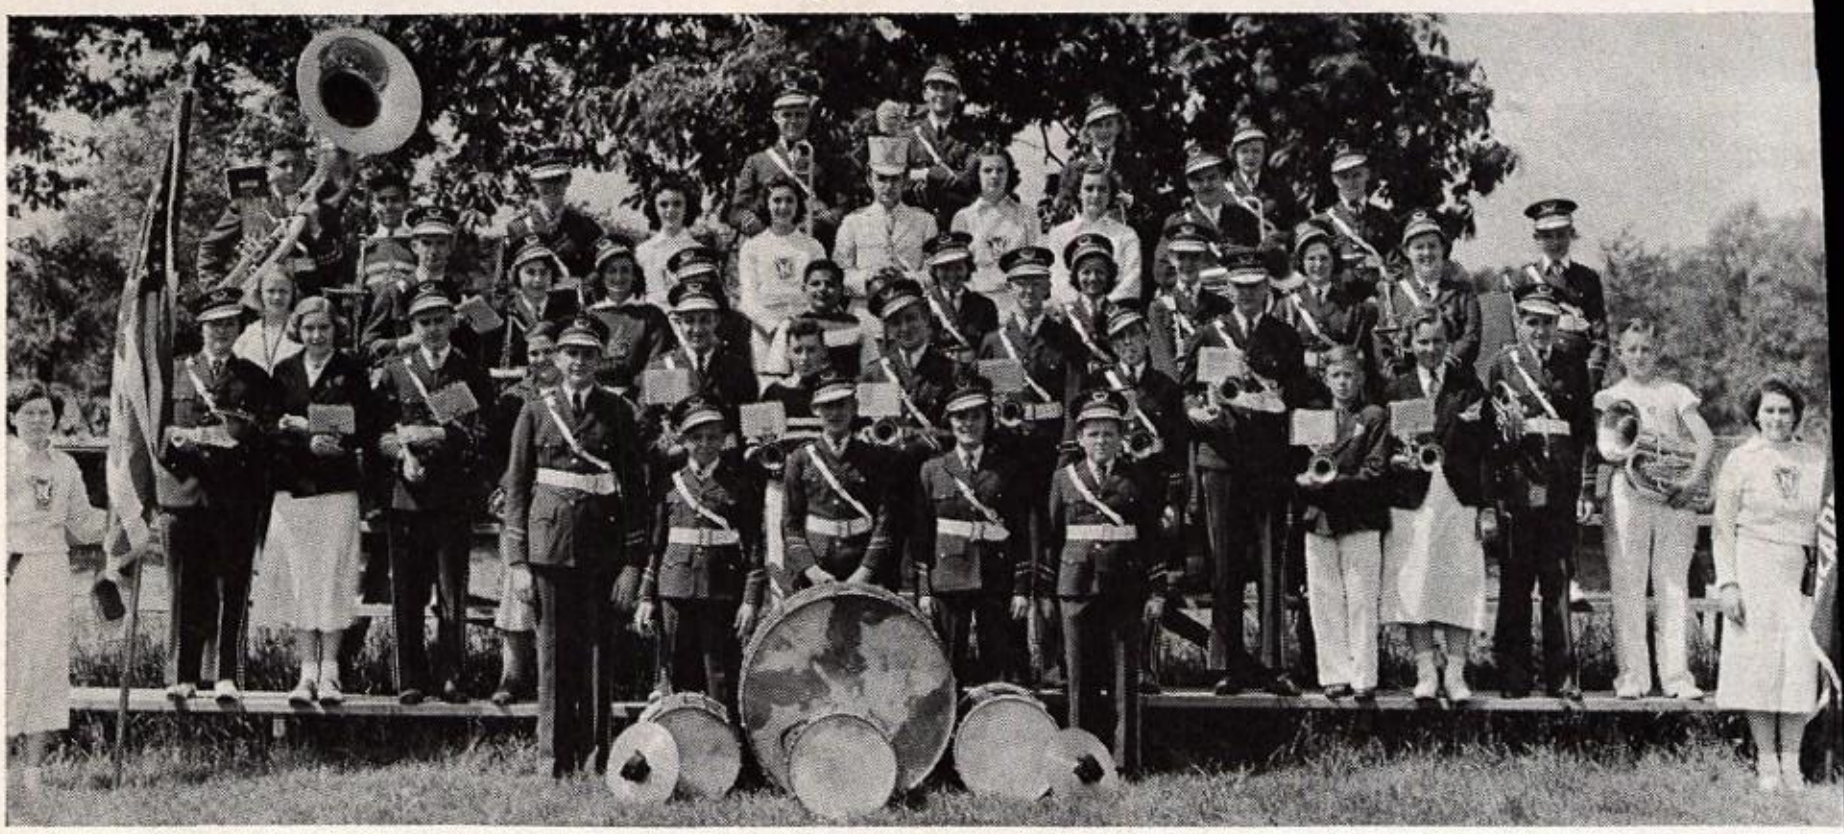
In 1920 the first Student Council, consisting of twelve members—three from each of the four classes—was organized in Nazareth High School for the purpose of making the student body more responsible for the general routine of school affairs.

Today's Student Council, consisting of a boy and a girl from each of the thirteen home-rooms, meets the eighth period each Monday to plan and supervise our various school activities.

This year the Council took care of the refreshment stand at home football games, planned and held modern and square dances for the entire student body, chose assembly programs, took care of the noon-day activities for both out-of-town and town students, and selected the girl and the boy of the month.

Chosen for outstanding activity or participation, a boy and a girl—sophomore, junior, or senior—is selected each month. The boy of the month is a guest at a meeting of the Nazareth Lions Club; the girl, a guest at a Junior Woman's Club meeting.

Musical Highlights of the Past



In 1938 the Nazareth High School Band was directed by Mr. Marvin Reitz.

On April 2 and 3, 1936, the combined Glee Clubs of Nazareth High School produced the Mikado under the direction of Miss Mae Yeisley.

Mr. Eckert fixes a chair.

Mr. Smith hauls out ashes.

Mr. Buss empties a wastepaper basket.

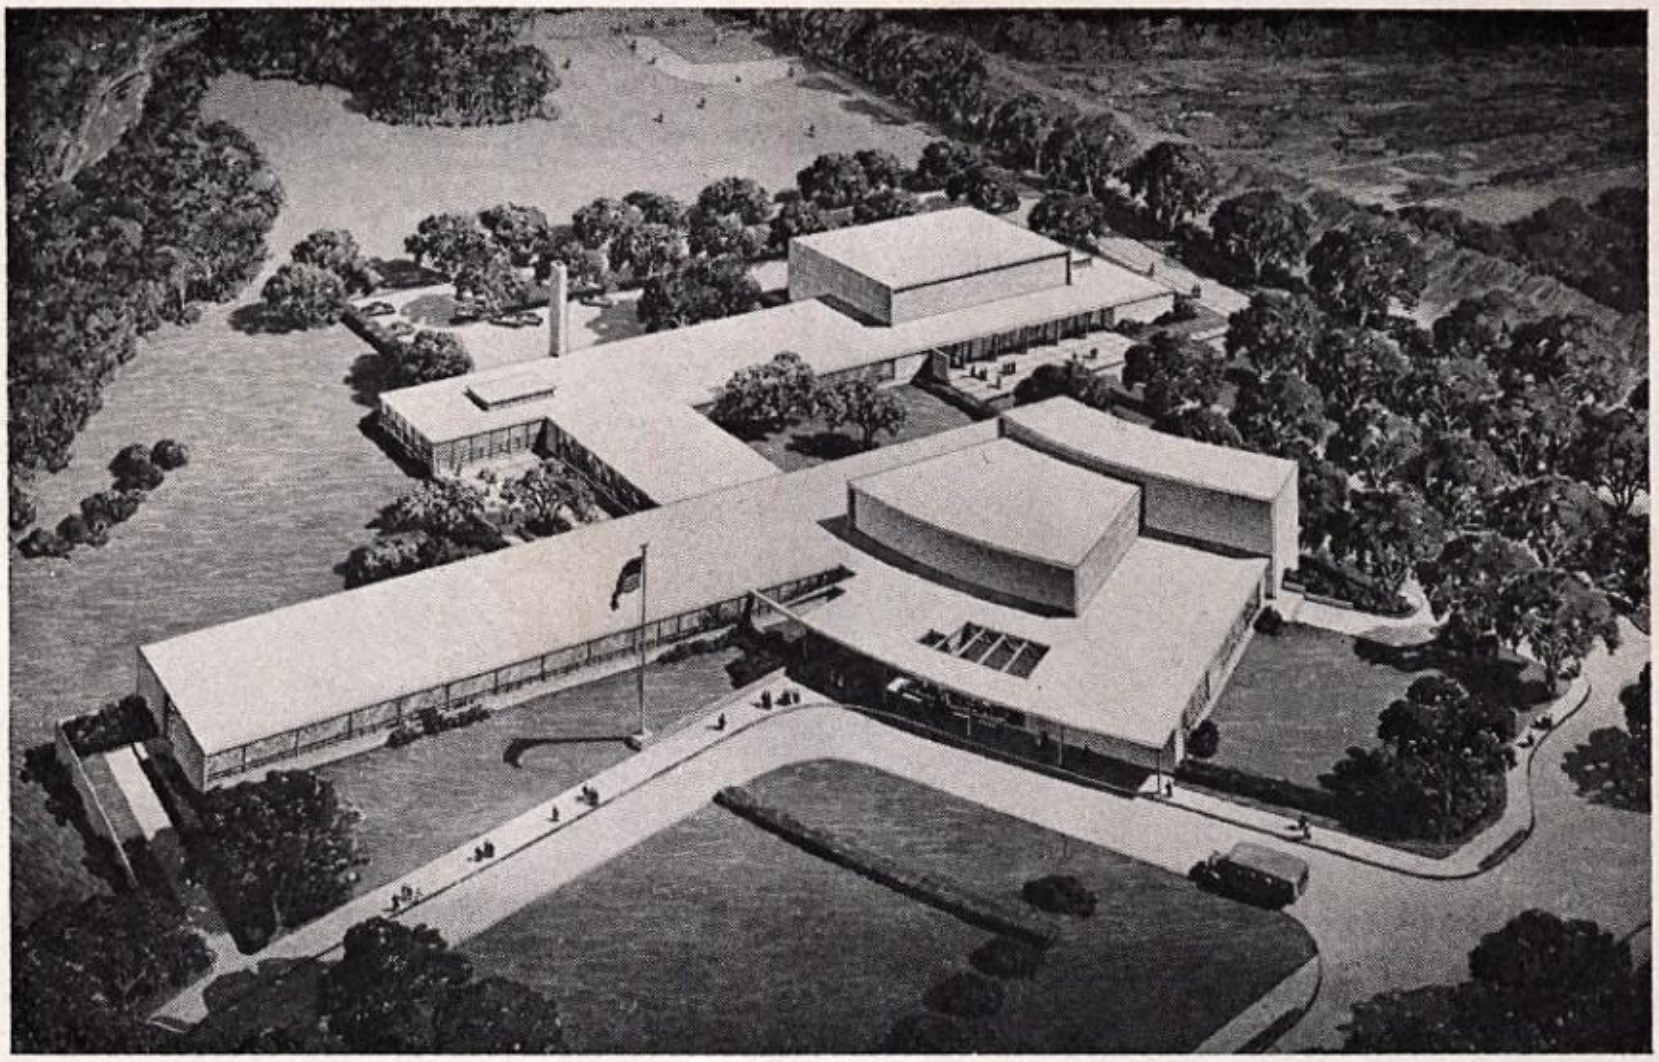
As Our Sons Will Know It



NAZARETH AREA SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL, NAZARETH, PENNSYLVANIA

(To be occupied in the Fall of 1955) Wolf and Hahn, Architect

The Nazareth Area Joint School District is comprised f three boroughs and three townships of which the orough of Nazareth is the economic center. The area erved by this jointure is located in the central part f Northampton County, and has a population, ac-ording to the 1950 census, of 13,080.

The new Nazareth Area Senior High School is now eing erected on a plot of ground of approximately seventeen acres adjacent to the site of the present high school.

Together, the two schools will occupy a plot of thirty acres, with two athletic fields, tennis courts, and other play areas.

The new building will contain 18 classrooms, home-making and health suites; auditorium, library, gym-nasium; shops; art, band, and audio-visual rooms; and cafeteria.

This modern high school building, now under con-struction, will accommodate 550 students and is planned for easy expansion for another 500.

With appropriate ceremonies the ground was broken for the Naza-reth Area Senior High School on Saturday, February 6, 1954.

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONIES

George A. Smith, chairman of the Steering Committee; Arthur Herd, president of the High School Student Council; the Rev. Floyd R. Shafer, D.D., president of the Joint Board; A. William Day, principal of the Junior High School; and F. A. Marcks, superintendent of Nazareth Schools
